

FARMERS SHOULD RAISE MORE MULES

THE PROFITS OF THE FARM MAY BE GREATLY INCREASED

By This Class of Stock Raising—United States Government Needs More Mules.

The South has been the home of the American trotting and saddle horse, but of late years there has been a growing necessity for draft horses and mules, due to the fact that the farmer needs a greater amount of power on the farm to profitably conduct his agricultural work. This can be done in two ways, either by a greater number of horses or through the use of larger horses. The horse-drawn machinery on the farm at the present time is gradually increasing the area which one man farms.

The use of large horses and machinery is a large factor in determining the profits of the farmer. The most profitable farms of to-day have more and better horses and are also raising more colts than the less profitable farms. The profits from each farm could be materially increased if one team on the farm consisted of a span of mares, preferably of heavy type, and require each mare to produce a draft colt or mule each year.

If the date of foaling is properly timed, the use of the pair of mares for farm work is not interfered with in the least. The work can be done with brood mares on the farm as with any horse power, and in addition a return to the farm products of a colt worth from $100 to $125, when one year old. The demand for heavy draft horses and mules is greater to-day than ever before, but the supply can not meet the demand, especially of the latter.

The United States government is paying out millions of dollars for draft mules that are produced throughout the different states of the union. This being true, the farmers can not afford to produce a colt of the roadster or saddle type, when he can produce a draft colt or mule that will demand a higher price at the age of one to three years.

MOLTING IN THE HENS

When winter eggs are desired it is very essential to have the hen shed her feathers early in the fall, so that an entire new coat covers the body before the cold weather begins. If the molting is delayed, the production of new feathers in cold weather is such a drain on the vitality of the fowl and so much of the elements of her food are needed for the plumage production that usually she is not able to produce eggs before the spring months.

The proper months for molting are August, September and October. If molting is completed during the fall months, the hen begins winter in good condition, and if properly housed and fed, may produce eggs during the entire winter.

Many methods have been tried to hasten the molting season and thus secure more eggs in winter. All methods are more or less injurious to the fowls, and poultrymen who desire vitality as well as utility stand by Nature's methods for the molting hen. The Van Dresser method of promoting an early molt is considered the nearest to Nature's method. "It consists in withholding food, either wholly or in part, for a few days, which stops egg production, and reduces the weight of the fowls, and then feeding heavily on a ration suitable for the formation of the feathers and general building up of the system."

The fowls are kept in small yards where nothing but green food and water are given them for two weeks. After this time they are liberally fed a ration rich in protein or nitrogenous food, which is especially valuable for the growth of feathers.

A mixture made of 4 parts wheat, 6 parts corn, 1 part beef scraps, and 1 part linseed meal forms a very good molting ration. With this should be fed plenty of green grass, clover or alfalfa.

During the entire molting period great care should be exercised to keep everything about the poultry houses and yards clean and sanitary. All droppings and cast off feathers should be removed daily.

With pick and shovel, horses, plows, road machines and other weapons of good roads warfare hundreds of citizens of the county are engaged today in working the public roads in accordance with a call recently issued for Good Roads Day in Randolph County. That the day has been a great success in many parts of the county is indicated by the reports of the energy and enthusiasm with which the work started off.—Elkins Inter-Mountain.

FRAIL, SICKLY CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol—Letter to Mothers.

Anxious mothers often wonder why their children are so pale, thin and nervous and have so little appetite. For the benefit of such mothers in this vicinity we publish the following letter.

J. Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn., says: "My little daughter, ever since her birth, had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worry. Several months ago we commenced to give her Vinol. I immediately noted an improvement in her health and appearance. I gave her three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you claim."

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal element extracted from cod liver, combined with the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol.

Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people and the weak, run-down and debilitated. We return the money in every case where it fails.

The Summer School

WHAT WILL YOU DO ABOUT IT?

Every well organized and well equipped college is conducting a fourth term, or summer school. Three or four months is too much time for students and teachers to waste. In the Summer School most of the regular courses are offered, some twice a day, six days in the week. For teachers the Summer School is the only chance. It furnishes an excellent opportunity to those who are ambitious to be advanced, especially to those who are striving by means of the Summer School to get credits on college work. This can be easily done. It is perfectly possible to save almost a year in regular college work in three or four summer term sessions.

If you have not already done so, write today to the Elkins Summer School for detailed information as to courses and terms. You can attend school almost as cheap as you can stay at home. Address Jas. E. Allen, Conductor, or N. Phay Faylor, Manager, Elkins, W. Va.

"Certainly! Buy a Johnston."

Why?

BECAUSE a Johnston Mower has gone through the experimental stage and has become standardized. Changes are made only when it is absolutely certain the change will be an improvement. Even then the "improved" machine is tried out before it is put on the market generally.

When you buy a Johnston Mower you are assured of a perfect cutting, easy running, light of draft, long wearing mower, the cost of repairs for which is reduced to the minimum.

Mr. Farmer, don't buy a Mower this season until you see the Johnston.

Particulars are always gladly furnished, and features carefully explained to prospective customers.

Ask for a Johnston catalog. It contains valuable information and tells about other Johnston Machines.
